ARGREGOR'S GOOD RACE.

The card offered by the Hawthorne management yesterday was a fairly good one for an off day and some good racing was witnessed by the large crowd that was present. The day was gloomy and cool and conditions were not of the best for scoring fast time. The best contest of the day turned up in the fourth race, a free handicap for three-year-olds and upward at one mile and seventy yards. Only four horses were entered but the race was thought to be between Trinity Bell and Argregor. To the surprise of many, however, after the flag dropped Bernato whisked to the front and threatened for a time to make a runaway affair of it. He led by almost three lengths up to the final eighth where the hot pace he had set began to tell on him and he commenced to falter.

At this critical juncture Coburn brought up Argregor with a rush but he did not succeed in getting the colt quite up to the tiring leader until in the closing strides. In the last few feet by dint of a vigorous ride Coburn got Argregor in front of Bernato, winning on the post by a half length going away, while the latter beat Boney Boy a length for second place. Trinity Bell finished lapped on Boney Boy but ran a rather indifferent race and failed to show that early speed which has usually characterized her efforts hereabout this year. Boney Boy awakened with startling quickness and closed forcefully. He is a hard horse to guess.

St. Marcos, a new comer, took the third race, a dash of one mile, in an easy fashion. Coburn, who rode him, allowed Max Bendix to set the pace for the first seven furlongs, where he called on the son of St. Florian and he came away without much trouble, winning by two lengths from Flying Torpedo, he beating Kunja one for second place. Flying Torpedo came with a rush at the end, but had no chance to beat the winner. Kunja hardly ran up to her best form and flagged badly when called upon by Sullivan in the last eighth. Max Bendix quit badly after running well for seven furlongs.

Mabel Winn is not any too much enamored of over four and a half furlongs and got a close call in the fifth race, a five furlongs scramble for two-year-olds, just lasting long enough to get her nose across the imaginary line in front of Legal Maxim. She led by a large margin for four and a half furlongs, but began to sprawl in the last sixteenth, where Legal Maxim, having been lying within call all the way, came with a rush and almost nipped her on the post. She won by a nose, Legal Maxim beating Emmet Orr four lengths for second place. The last named awakened with a start and showed vast improvement over his last effort. Haydon showed a little early speed and also showed that he is nowhere near a good stiff race.

Maggie Davis, despite the fact that many believed her recent mud races had dulled her speed, virtually ran away with the purse in the third race, a six furlongs dash. She led from flag dip by a snug margin and won running well within herself, by three lengths from Rosa Diah. Emma R. finished third two and a half lengths back of Rosa Diah. The latter finished strongly under a weak ride and was much the best of those that finished back of her. Emma R. showed her usual turn of speed but died away when the pinch came. Lady Idris ran well for five furlongs, but lacks courage and will not stand a drive. Alice Dougherty was never a contender. Triaditza has seemingly trained off and is possibly in need of a rest.

The last race of the day went to Laureate, ridden by Coburn, which made the third winner that this jockey had piloted during the day. First, About set the pace and then El Fosse, but along about the last eighth post Coburn brought Laureate along with a well-timed rush and he had no trouble about winning by a length and a half from El Fosse, which beat Elmer L. almost one for second place. The last-named came fast in the final sixteenth, but could not quite get up for second money. G. W. W. was given a poor ride, being ridden in and out all over the stretch. He should have finished no worse than second. Tammany Chief ran a dull race.

The day's opener, a dash of five and a half furlongs for two-year-olds, went to Hermis, the favorite, with Winkfield in the saddle. Inspector Shea, facing the barrier for the first time, showed the way up to the last eighth post, where Winkfield called upon Hermis, which came away with a bound and won easily by three lengths from Huzzah, he beating Tommy Foster two and a half lengths for second place. Huzzah moved up fast in the last sixteenth, but had no chance to beat the winner. Tommy Foster was backed on his good showing with Throstle several days ago, but ran an indifferent race and had a fairly hard time of it in breaking inside of the money.

After the decision of the sixth race J. H. (Texas) Smith claimed Tammany Chief for $1,000.

The running of the Futurity will be called off this afternoon. A direct wire has been strung for this purpose.

Nine horses are named to start for the Northern Handicap this afternoon. If all go to the post the gross value of the event will be $7,240, which will net the winner the enticing sum of $6,120. Gallant old Pink Coat is the top weight, but can handle his 120 pounds in good style and run a grand race. Robert Waddell is not likely to be a starter if the report of some weeks back to the effect that he had split a hoof was true. Speculation about the race was rife at the track yesterday. For one thing it was said that Favonius has recently been working in fine style and, if the report is correct, this horse will prove a formidable factor. In fact he is simply turned loose if he is now back to his true form, and in view of the hard luck that has pursued the stable here no one could object if Favonius should credit this rich stake to Burns & Waterhouse. Six Shooter is also said to enjoy the confidence of his owner and stable connections and with his light impost should run a great race. However, there are others in the race and none of those mentioned may win.

THE FUTURITY TODAY.

This afternoon will be marked by the decision of the world's richest stake for two-year-olds, for that is what the Futurity was designed to be by its founders and what it is. The most valuable stake in England for two-year-olds is the National Breeders' Produce Stakes, run annually at Sandown, which is of the gross guaranteed value of $25,000, whereas $30,630 is the least net sum to the winner that has followed the decision of any Futurity. This was the net value when Chacornac won in 1899. Its greatest value was in 1890 when Potomac's success brought $67,675 to his fortunate owner. As a rule its winner has been a high-class race horse but not always. Chaos, L'Alouette, Martimae, and probably Chacornac were indifferent performers and not entitled to much consideration in a winning list that embraced such glorious names as those of Proctor Knott, Potomac, His Highness, Morello, Domino and Requitall.

The race of this afternoon is quite open in appearance. Among the two-year-olds of this year no Hamburg or Commando has appeared, although there is a possibility that Madden and Whitney's as yet unbeaten Yankee may demonstrate that he is a high-class young horse. His two easily achieved victories at Saratoga do not tell much except that he is gifted with the first requisite of a race horse, speed. The best of the youngsters he vanquished can only be accounted useful, so what Yankee can do when pitted against the best of this year remains to be settled by the running of this year's Futurity. Sentimentally it would be pleasing if he should bring additional lustre to the fame of his dead sire by winning the last Futurity in which any son of Hanover can start.

There is no good reason to doubt that Nasturtium is a good colt or that Blue Girl is a good filly. Sturdy Goldsmith is another good performer. King Hanover, Gunfire, Masterman, Hyphen, Cunard, Golden Cottage, Lux Casta, Saturday and others that may go to the post have good races to their credit, but in the whole list of probable starters there is none that has as yet earned the right to be called a great racer. It is this feature that renders the Futurity of this year unusually perplexing and it may be said unusually interesting.

The tabulated history of this great race is as follows:

Yr.	Winner.	Second.	Third.	Value.	Time.
1888	Proctor Knott	Salvator	Galen	$10,000	1:13 1/2

NOTES OF THE TURF.

Frank Erb, Peoria, Ill.: Handbooks should pay on the race just as if Nellie Waddell had not started. But in settling the extent to which the odds against her affected the odds against the other horses should be taken into account.

E. B. F., Chicago. Your bet on Verify was a loser. If you wanted the benefit of the entry you should have said so.

C. F. G., Chicago. Your wager on South Trimble for place, was a winner and should be paid.

W. A. M., Chicago. Your parolee bet was a winner and should be paid.

GOSSIP OF THE TURF.

It is reported that conflicts are to be avoided on the Canadian circuit next year. It is said that an agreement has practically been made which contemplates a union of the interests which control the Windsor race track and the Highland Park Jockey Club, which operates the Fort Erie track across the river from Buffalo, as well as the Highland Park plant in Detroit. Last year Windsor and Highland Park ran in opposition to each other, and the result was disastrous to both associations, as was bound to be the case where there is not a population anywhere near enough to support two meetings at the same time. That mistake has not been made this year. While there is no longer any feeling between the Highland Park Jockey Club and the new Windsor Racing Association, Windsor and Fort Erie have eluded this season. Though there has not been a scarcity of horses at either track, it is a sure thing that each would have done better if it had had the field to itself. To bring about such a condition in the future the Highland Park Club and Meers. Chambers, Walker and Wagner, the lessees of the Windsor track, will arrange to have a circuit, consisting of Windsor, Fort Erie and Highland Park. The scheme contemplates sixty days' racing at Windsor, a like period at Fort Erie and a thirty-day meeting at Highland Park for a windup. There will be racing on the proposed new circuit almost throughout the entire legitimate racing season. If the ideas of Sam Wagner and his associates in Windsor are carried out there will be few purses less than $300 and a number of valuable stakes to be decided at each of the three tracks. The owners of the Windsor plant, with such a circuit in view, have already agreed to make further improvements. They have given assurance that they will move the grand stand quite a distance further back and lay a concrete promenade in front of it. They will also build several hundred additional stalls to accommodate the greatly increased number of horses which will be gathered there. The Highland Park Club wanted to enter into such an arrangement as has been suggested this season, but as Windsor and Fort Erie had both announced their dates it could not well be done.

The grand filly Endurance by Right had but few stake engagements in the west. Those she was in she captured. But she has many important engagements in the east and has a busy and important autumn campaign in prospect. At Sheepshead Bay she is entered in seven stakes. They are the Partridge, six furlongs on the turf course, $1,250 added; the Flatbush, seven furlongs, $5,000 guaranteed; the Dash, last five furlongs of the New Futurity course, $1,250 added; the Flight, for two-year-olds and upward, seven furlongs, $1,500 added; the Belles, for fillies, last five and a half furlongs of the New Futurity course, $1,250 added; the Golden Rod, six and a half furlongs on the turf course, $1,250 added, and the Great Eastern Handicap, six furlongs, $7,500 guaranteed. She is also engaged in Gravesend stakes that closed August 15, but the entry lists there have not as yet been published. At Westchester she is in the Rancho del Paso, the Eclipse Course, $1,000 added; the Silver Brook, last five and a half furlongs of the Eclipse Course, $1,000 added; the Nursery Handicap, the Eclipse Course, $2,500 added; the Champagne Stake, last seven furlongs of the Withers Mile, $2,500 added, and the White Plains Handicap, the Eclipse Course, $2,000 added. Some of the stakes appear to be at her mercy in advance, but in others she will be required to meet such good ones as Yankee, Nas-artium, Blue Girl, Cameron, Disadvantage, Goldsmith, Brunswick, Fly Wheel, Cunard, Dixieline, Otis, Smart Set, Leonora Loring, Allan-a-Dale and others that rank as the picked ones of the year. But if she retains her western form any one of these that beats her to the wire will truly know that he or she has been to the races.

Colonel William S. Barnes recently issued a catalogue of his famous Melbourne stud that is without a rival in point of good taste, typography, costly material and artistic finish. Bound in green and silver and printed on costly tinted paper, and edited by John K. Stringfield, it is a publication that any one interested in the affairs of the turf and the problems of breeding would be pleased to have in his library. It is handsomely illustrated with pictures of the noted sires at Melbourne and landscape views of his farm, and is, altogether, a credit to "Colonel Bill."

Winner—B. g. by Verge d'Or—Adelaide.
Went to post at 2:37. At post 7 minutes. Start poor. Won easily; second the same. The start put the race between the first two, as four of the probable contenders were away last on the outside. Harry K., Fairbury, Nellie Helmuth and Metoxen never had a chance from where they got off. The third, fourth and fifth horses ran the best races. Metoxen was not persevered with. Kid McCoy bled. Diaz ran to his best form and finished well. Capitolia showed surprising improvement. Harry K. was gaining fast at the end.

Overweights—Asoka, 2 pounds; Kenneth Jr., 3; Jack Willis, 2.

Wy Ap Per ran a game race and finished stoutly under an inferior ride. Clarena ran a fair race. Called Back was weakly managed, but finished well.

Went to post at 3:43. At post 16 minutes. Start good. Won easily; second driving. Marguerite Hageman was well handled directly after the start in avoiding a bad jam, was placed carefully and ran into the lead when called on. Nekarnis, very badly handled, ran a fine race and finished stoutly. Emily Oliver ran her race. Ransom's feet are in bad condition. Dominis showed early speed but was possibly just a shade short. Ann was very badly ridden and ran a poor race. She can beat the time of this race in work but is a morning glory. George B. Cox is not up to a race.

Winner—B. m. by Sir Dixon—Adele, by Onondaga.

Went to post at 4:33. At post 7 minutes. Start good. Won in a hard drive of two; second easily. Revoke was pounds the best and had to be to win. She was off running in front, but was badly cut off at the three eighths and lost much ground. Had O'Brien then gone on with Tickful he would probably have won. Ladas did his best. Miss Patron was lame in front and ran a bad race. Dick Hobson was all but left at the post.

Winner—B. c. by Inspector B.—Rosa Buckden.
Went to post at 4:05. At post 2 minutes. Start good. Won pulled up; second easily. The race was a farce, Monos leading a procession all the way and could have won by many lengths more. Sarilla was as easily second best. The others are of no account. The first book was declared off on account of a change in Reginald Hughes' weight.
Scratched—(27941) Chorus Boy, 114.

Winner—Ch. f. by Montana Regent—Nettie Beatrice.
Went to post at 4:32. At post 8 minutes. Start poor. Won easily; second the same. Nettie Regent had to be much the best to win. She was kicked while at the post and got off last, running around the entire field. Aaron finished well, but was lucky in winning second place. Merida was probably second best, but was pocketed at the turn and could have been handled better. Nyx and Greetings ran their races.
Nettie Regent, show, out. Aaron, show, 4 to 5. Merida, show, 1 to 3. Eva's Darling, show, 2 to 5.
